SAR skills build through 'typical' training day

Sara White,
Managing editor

A search and rescue crew aboard one of 14 Wing Greenwood's Hercules aircraft conducted a "typical" training day

First Officer Captain Maxime Chevalier manoeuvres a CC130332 Hercules search and rescue aircraft over the Cascapedia River Valley, Quebec.

Corporal N. Clarkson, 14 Wing Imaging

January 22, leaving the Nova Scotia airfield with a simple scenario to cover some complex tasks.

First thing in the morning, 413 (Transport and Rescue) Squadron crew commander Captain Sebastien Roy gathered his day's crew to determine their flight plan. The day's goal: train the crew with a simulated search and finalize the scenario with some simulated equipment drops and search and rescue technician parachute jumps.

"The Cascapedia River Valley, near Bonaventure in Quebec, is a great place for training, and the spot that we used for this scenario was challenging due to the fact that it was surrounded by mountains," said Roy. "We can practice valley searches and simulate challenging scenarios."

Off they went.

"Usually on a real mission, we are tasked to search for something - aircraft, people, boats, etc. In this case, we planned on a valley search. When you find something or someone, you need to get

Library collecting food for fines through February

Do you have overdue fines on late library books? No worries, no guilt. February presents the opportunity for you to assist food banks while settling your overdue accounts. The Annapolis Valley Regional Library is once more partnering with Valley food banks and Feed Nova Scotia to host its Food for Fines program during the entire month of February. The Food for Fines initiative allows library patrons to exchange food items or new, unopened personal hygiene and household items for the pardoning of fines. Through February, for every donated item delivered to the library, up to $3 in overdue fines will be forgiven. There is no limit on the number of overdue fines which can be pardoned. It is important to note this initiative is for overdue fines only, and not lost book fees, damaged materials or other miscellaneous fees, such as printing or photocopying. We will not accept expired items. All Food for Fines donations received at Annapolis Valley Regional Library service points, which includes 10 branches and the bookmobile, will go to a Feed Nova Scotia member food bank serving that library's community. So, if you have library fines (or even if you don't!), why not head down to the library during February? Through Food for Fines, you can help make a difference for hungry families in your area.

The War Amps Key Tag Service

Jericho's running legs were funded by The War Amps.

It works! Nearly 13,000 sets of lost keys are returned every year.

“Thank you for the safe return of my keys! My car fob would have cost $265 to replace, so I am especially happy to have it back.”

Fun By The Numbers

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Burns' birthday night

All things Scottish were on the agenda Saturday, January 27, as the Annapolis Mess hosted its annual Robbie Burns dinner and ceilidh, marking the great bard's birthday. Laird for the evening was Ian Patrick, who provided some history and heritage, along with the traditional address to the haggis. Music, dancing and Scotch tasting added flavour to the festivities.
