Captain Colin Strong, 14 Air Maintenance Squadron; Major Corey Taylor, 405 (Long Range Patrol) Squadron; and the Greenwood Military Family Resource Centre's Diana Montgomery, employment coordinator; and Julie Courcy, community engagement coordinator; dropped by Dwight Ross school April 30 to say thanks to students for letters and art for soldiers deployed from 14 Wing Greenwood – and to mark April is the Month of the Military Child.

Children's art, support, friendship adds up for military members, families

Sara White,
Managing editor

Highlighting the monthly "good news" assembly April 30 at Dwight Ross school was a thank you to students for their role supporting Canadian Armed Forces members – and their children.

Taking the opportunity to visit were 14 Wing Greenwood's Captain Colin Strong, 14 Air Maintenance Squadron; and Major Corey Taylor, 405 (Long Range Patrol) Squadron. Both were deployed last fall.

"We were away from our families for awhile," said Taylor, "and it was leading up to Christmas. We received some wonderful care packages – cookies and gifts, but we really appreciated the homemade cards.

"We got together – about 40 of us, and we went through the boxes and the cards. They were really special, and we appreciate all your effort."

The school took on the care package mail as a support-the-troops project, and worked with the Greenwood Military Family Resource

14 Wing soldiers undertake Nijmegen March training through local communities

Communities around 14 Wing Greenwood will notice increased activity outside the grounds of 14 Wing until July, as a marching contingent of Canadian Armed Forces personnel train for the international Nijmegen March.

The training group includes approximately 40 soldiers, conducting multiple distance marches each week on sidewalks, trails and roads between Aylesford and Nic-taux. The group marches in formation, with safety-vested individuals marking both the front and back of the group; they follow provincial laws and march as pedestrians, facing oncoming traffic. Please exercise caution if you come upon the group, and ensure your vehicle passes by with enough space to keep everyone safe. In fact, a honk in support of the group's efforts would be much appreciated.

The Nijmegen March marks its 102nd 166-kilometre event in and around Nijmegen, a town in the Netherlands. The July 17 to 20 challenge brings together approximately 50,000 military marchers on teams from countries around the world, and over one million spectators. Teams march an average of 40 kilometres a day – or more, carrying a 10-kilogram ruck sack, food and water. Canadian teams have participated since 1952.

The 14 Wing Greenwood team is one of a handful to represent the Canadian Armed Forces in 2018. By the time they leave for Nijmegen, they will have logged over 880 training kilometres and hours of personal fitness time. The final team will be whittled down to 11 members, plus two spares. While overseas, the 14 Wing contingent will also participate in memorial services at Vimy Ridge.

Centre to have them included in overseas delivery. Diana Montgomery, the MFRC’s coordinator of employment and education services; came with the military members to also highlight for students the April is the Month of the Military Child initiative.

“We spend the whole month celebrating those people in our community who have military children or are one,” she said, “but, you are also here with many military children, and you welcome them into the community and play a special role as friends.”

Taylor said that support for children means a lot to him and his military peers, especially while they are away from home.

“We had to be away because there are bullies out there, and we were sent to stand up to them. I’d ask each of you to do that, too, if you see someone who needs a hand, or a friend, or maybe their mom or dad is away.”

The MacKinnon family kicks back.

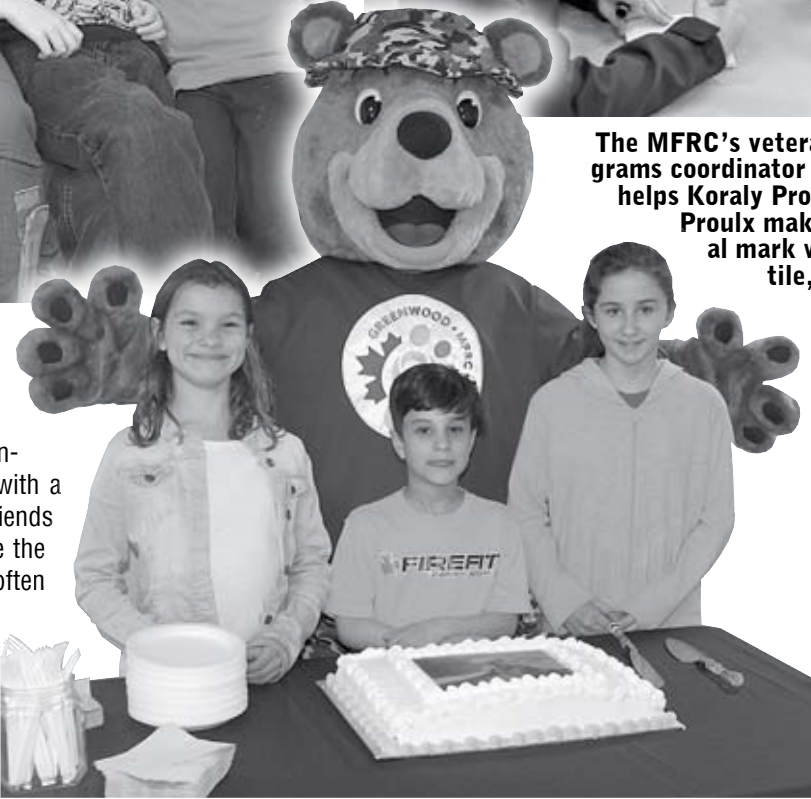

The MFRC’s veterans family programs coordinator Sarah Osborne helps Koraly Proulx and Mélina Proulx make their personal mark with a coloured tile, destined for a permanent art installation in the centre.

Marking military kids

April 30, the Greenwood Military Family Resource Centre wrapped up April is the Month of the Military Child with a community BBQ and an evening of fun for families and friends of military kids. The month is an opportunity to recognize the unique situation military children live, as their parents are often called upon and away from home, for work, training and deployment. With a dandelion as the month’s official symbol, highlighting these kids’ resiliency, toughness and bright attitudes; April is a month to celebrate. Pictured are MFRC mascot Mac, Alyssa McMullen, Matsen Okorofsky and Grace Wagner

People, Purpose, Passion: ‘Making Safety a Habit’

The goal of North American Occupational Safety & Health Week (NAOSH) May 6 to 12 is to focus the attention of all employers, employees and the general public on the importance of preventing injury and illness in the workplace, at home and in the community at large.

The 2018 theme, People, Purpose & Passion: “Making Safety a Habit;” is to encourage all stakeholders to focus on adopting or improving “safety habits” and promoting the importance of health and safety in our everyday lives. For 2018, businesses and organizations are encouraged to create a slogan to support why it is important for their employees to make safety a habit. Not only at this time but all year through we should focus on our people with purpose and passion, promoting prevention of illness and injury in our workplaces, at home and within our communities.

Des gens, une raison d’être, une passion : « Faire de la sécurité une habitude »

La Semaine nord-américaine de la sécurité et de la santé au travail (SNASST) du 6 au 12 mai a pour objet d’attirer l’attention de tous les employeurs, employés et membres du public sur l’importance de la prévention des blessures et des maladies au travail, à la maison et dans la collectivité.

Le thème de 2018 : Des gens, une raison d’être, une passion« Faire de la sécurité une habitude », vise à encourager tous les intervenants à réfléchir à l’adoption ou à l’amélioration « d’habitudes en matière de sécurité » et à souligner l’importance de la santé et de la sécurité dans notre vie quotidienne. En 2018, on encourage les entreprises et les organisations à créer un slogan pour faire comprendre à leurs employés pourquoi il est important que la sécurité devienne une question d’habitude. Non seulement en cette période, mais tout au long de l’année, nous devons nous concentrer sur nos employés avec raison d’être et passion, et encourager la prévention de maladies et de blessures dans nos lieux de travail, à la maison et dans la collectivité.

La SNASST offre une excellente occasion de cibler et de renforcer notre engagement à l’égard de la santé et de la sécurité au travail pour:

- améliorer les attitudes à l’égard de la sécurité;
- mieux faire comprendre l’importance de la santé et de la sécurité au travail;
- favoriser une culture axée sur la sécurité;
- accroître la collaboration;
- contribuer à l’esprit d’équipe et améliorer la communication entre les employés, les comités de sécurité et les professionnels de la sécurité.

Les employés du Bureau de la sécurité générale de la 14e Escadre encouragent chaque NAOSH Week presents an excellent opportunity to focus, reinforce and strengthen commitment to occupational safety and health to:

- improve attitudes towards safety
 - increase understanding of the importance of occupational safety and health
 - foster a safety-minded culture
 - increase cooperation
 - assist in team building and improve communication between employees, safety committees and safety professionals.
- The 14 Wing General Safety Staff encourages each 14

Wing commanding officer in conjunction with their General Safety staff to create their own unit slogan which reflects their purpose and passion for health & safety why it is important for their people to make safety a habit and use it throughout the year to promote such. Squadrons or units are encouraged to display your NAOSH Week slogan on local GS Boards.

All of us, regardless of the role in our organization, have responsibilities for our own health and safety and those we work with. Although NAOSH Week is traditionally our annual “call to action” the Wing General Safety Office encourages each and every one to focus on health and safety each and every day, with the ultimate goal of ensuring all workers go home safe at the end of every work day.

Safety is not an add-on; safety is integral to the task or activity.

Sentry duty way to honour family, Canadians

Ensign James Benning, Public Affairs Officer, The Ceremonial Guard

Once again, the call is out to Canadian Armed Forces members, looking for volunteers to stand guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Ottawa.

Corporal Adam McLeod, a Greenwood native, couldn't get his arm up fast enough. "My father served in Afghanistan" McLeod says, "and the national war memorial has come to represent all those veterans who have served."

Halifax Rifles armoured crewman Corporal Adam McLeod, of Greenwood, is now volunteering with the National Sentry Program at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Ottawa.

Submitted

For the past few weeks now, McLeod has been part of the national sentry program at the National War Memorial.

At the National War Memorial, sentries are mounted beside the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Since 2007, sentries have been posted during the summer as part of the Ceremonial Guard's public duties. The task was expanded to operate for seven months a year, until 2020, and was named the National Sentry Program.

For McLeod, standing sentry at the tomb holds a particular significance.

"I enrolled in the military because I came from a military family," he says, having enrolled in 2014. He is now an armoured crewman with the Halifax Rifles. "To be able to honour my relatives who have served and sacrificed is particularly important."

CFB Halifax team wins Regional curling gold

Ryan Melanson, Trident staff

Five teams from across the region battled it out March 27 to 29 at the CFB Halifax Curling Club for the title of Atlantic Champions, with the home team from CFB Halifax coming away with the banner and gold medals.

The winners were one of two Halifax teams who competed, alongside teams from 12 Wing Shearwater, 14 Wing Greenwood and 5 CDSB Gagetown. The winning team went undefeated through the tournament, with victories over Shearwater (7-2), Gagetown (8-2), Greenwood (7-0), and the second Halifax team (8-3).

The final match saw Halifax once again facing Shearwater. Led by skip Petty Officer Second Class Heather Whiteway, Halifax took the lead in the opening end and continued scoring, shutting down the 12 Wing team's attempts to catch up and ending in a 6-3 final score after eight ends.

Greenwood unfortunately lost each game it played, including a 13-1 loss to Shearwater, a 7-0 loss to Halifax 1, a 5-4 loss to Halifax 2 and an 8-1 loss to Gagetown.

Along with Whiteway, who works at FMF Cape Scott, the championship team was made up of Leading Seaman Marc Vezina, also of FMF, Petty Officer First Class Denny Wilson and Leading Seaman Blaine Richard, who both work at Naval Fleet School (Atlantic), and Leading Seaman Adam Wilson of Trinity.

“Everyone had fun and

it was a great way to start the Easter weekend,” said Whiteway after receiving the championship banner. She also thanked PSP Halifax, specifically Fitness and Sports coordinator Ashley Stewart, for organizing the tournament, as well as CFB Halifax Base Chief CPO1 Dave Steeves for attending the final game and handing out the hardware during the closing ceremonies.

Curling club wraps winter season

Jeff Coleman,
Vice-president,
14 Wing Greenwood
Curling Club

The 14 Wing Greenwood Mixed Curling league wrapped up with prizes and trophy presentations at the club's annual potluck supper April 21. Another successful season was enjoyed by everyone.

Special thanks go out to our perennial club president, Dave Ronaldson, and Julie Morley, both of whose dedication and passion for the game has kept the club running for many years. Thanks also to rink manager Bill Cox and his staff of icemakers - Kelly, Jim, Garnett and Jim - who ensured the ice was always in great condition for our league. Lastly, a special shout out to bartenders Cheryl and Bonnie for remembering our favourite beverage after the game!

Winning teams this season were, in first, Team Ronaldson; second, Team Winters; third, Team McEwen.

For those who aren't aware, the 14 Wing Greenwood Curling Club is attached to the Greenwood Gardens Arena and is always looking for new curlers. You don't have to be an experienced curler: curling clinics run each fall, lead by members of the club. Curling is not an expensive sport, and the club has lots of equipment available for new curlers to get involved. Sign up for a league or even just to spare, as we always need spares.

The 2018/ 2019 league schedule will look like this: Monday night - men's league, coordinator: Jim Putters, 902-824-4337 or jimputters@bellaliant.net; Tuesday night - ladies' league, coordinator: Sandra Cathcart, 902-765-6516 or wcathcart@ns.sympatico.ca; Wednesday night - mixed league, coordinator: Jeff Coleman, 902-222-6477 or emeoifficer@gmail.com; Thursdays (4:15 p.m.) - junior league, coordinators Dave Ronaldson, 902-765-6252 or juliemorley@bellaliant.net; and John Boekema.

Curling is on the rise: it's in the Olympics, even the new mixed doubles! Do you have a future Olympian, currently sitting at home on the couch? Get them involved in junior curling! For additional information, contact the 14 Wing Curling Club president, Dave Ronaldson, 902-765-6252 or juliemorley@bellaliant.net; or join the 14 Wing Greenwood Curling Club Facebook page.

You won't find a better way to make it through the winter!
